-- The MAILING DATE of this communication appears on the cover sheet with the correspondence address --

Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

Art Unit: 1734

Specification

The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because it needs to be placed or fitted on a single page instead of two separate pages. Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: on page 1 of the specification, Applicants need to update the history of the previous related applications, now patents.

Appropriate correction is required.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-6 rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 25 and 26 of U.S. Patent No. 6,296,708. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because both the present application and the patent claim a single inventive concept including a coating control device intended to be used in a coating system, the control device comprising a hand held device for transmitting signals to the controller and includes input devices to transmit gun triggering signals to the controller to program the controller to operate a spray gun in relation to movement of the part being coated by the conveyor relative to the spray gun.

With respect to claims 3 and 5, both the present application and the patent claim a single inventive concept to include a coating control system intended to be used with a spray gun, the control system comprising the combination of controller for a spray gun coating system including a coating supply pump, and hose to spray coat a part conveyed past the gun by a conveyor and a hand held device for transmitting signals to the controller and includes input devices to transmit gun triggering signals to the controller to program the controller to operate the spray gun in relation to movement of the part being coated by the conveyor relative to the spray gun.

Claims 1-6 rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-7 of U.S. Patent No. 6,666,919. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because both the present application and the patent claim a single inventive concept including a coating control device intended to be used in a coating system, the control device comprising a hand held device for transmitting signals to the controller and includes input devices to transmit gun triggering signals to the controller to program the controller to operate a spray gun in relation to movement of the part being coated by the conveyor relative to the spray gun.
